“ Alex was a quiet gentleman. He was the biggest gear head and so proud of the things he worked on. He talked about working with his dad and his dream to be a mechanic. He was excited and proud to be starting college this coming fall. He loved his family. He was just a great kid. I got to know him in elementary school when I worked one on one with him sometimes. Always shy. Always sweet. I also was blessed to work with him in high school to help him plan his future. He was strong and passionate and polite and respectful. He talked about his girlfriend and friends. Special young man. He will be very missed.

“ May God hold you close during this time of grieving losing 2 sons and a daughter. Such unbearable pain that God understands. I lost my brother at age 24 and I still think of him every day.
