

Christina A. Stalder

February 25, 1927 - December 21, 2010

She was born Feb. 25, 1927, at Wymore to Christian and Florence L. (Noe) Stalder and was baptized in the Christian church at Wymore. Christina attended Wymore Public Schools and Barneston country school. She attended Nebraska Christian College first and then attended the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. She taught school for 28 years. The last five of those years were at Levittown, Puerto Rico. For 59 years she and Nim Abbott shared a home. They owned three different properties, the last being their home on Gerecke Street in Norfolk. Christina liked to say that "ladies unique live on Gerecke." Christina loved people and was like a mother and grandmother to many. She especially loved children and was the "candy lady" to many a child. She enjoyed yard and garden work, writing letters, poetry and just having fun. Christina was very interested in missionary work and was generous supporting many missionaries in their endeavors. She devoted several years to Nim's special care before Nim was admitted to the Golden Living Center Alzheimer's Unit, where she died in 2008. While Nim was at the care unit, Christina faithfully visited her every day and took care of her needs. In September 2010, Christina moved to the Madison House in Norfolk. She was a great friend, a faithful worker in the church and had a delightful sense of humor. Her many friends and the members of her church will miss her greatly. She was a member of First Christian Church, Norfolk. She and Nim taught Sunday school for years. Survivors include two sisters, Lucy May Shaffer of Puyallup, Wash., Gertrude Flower of Blue Rapids, Kan.; two sisters-in-law,
