“ He was very hardworking. He was very creative with anything he touched. Corey could make anything out of wood or metal. He put everyone first before himself. His sense of humor made him unique and you never knew what he would say next. He loved with his whole heart and would give the shirt off his back to whoever needed it more than him. Some people took him for granted because of his big heart but he always turned to the Lord for guidance and didn't change his ways. I will forever love you Corey.
