He married Garcia Koppelman Sept. 4, 1971, at St. Paul's Catholic Church, Plainview. After getting married Larry and his wife Garcia laid roots just outside of Plainview, where they farmed for many years. Larry was an avid hunter and truly enjoyed the outdoors. Early to rise in the morning, he was often in town at the local Casey's General Store, giving the clerks trouble and getting his morning cookie. He always had a kind word for all, mixed in with the usual clever and sarcastic comment. Larry was also very active with his kids. He coached the Plainview softball team for many years, coaching both his daughters. Later in life he coached both his sons' baseball teams as well. He enjoyed many things in life, including watching the Nebraska Cornhuskers (usually after half-time), Duke basketball and the Yankees baseball games. He liked going for drives with his wife Garcia in the country, looking at the crops and all the farmsteads, knowing for hundreds of miles who farmed. Above all else, Larry always made sure to spend quality time with his wife, kids and grandkids.
