“ Sharon was delightful to be around.

After she transferred to DC, I managed to meet up with her a couple of times over the last few years while on business travel - she was always up for meeting for dinner, and introducing me to interesting corners in the DC area. I even managed to meet up with her on a chance visit to Omaha. We always had engaging and wide ranging conversations which I found enjoyable and sometimes educational.

“ Sharon will be truly missed at NG. She always took time to see how I was doing. No matter how difficult the situation, she had a joyful demeanor and outlook. It was clear she cared for others. I will miss our late evening chats.

To her family, I am deeply sorry for your loss.

“ Sharon was a dear friend to our whole family. Her sunny, positive outlook, sense of fun and humor made for a lot of memorable moments. From being the little tag-along sister in high school to Pierce county fairs to Mardi Gras in New Orleans, Sharon was ready for any adventure and always had a quick come back that left us laughing. Sharon was like a member of the family in St. Louis, the kids always had a blast when she accompanied us to the Zoo, City Museum, Forest Park or came over to play, read books and pull them around in their wagon. Thank you for your friendship, you will be missed but never forgotten.

“ I worked with Sharon for a number of years at Boeing and was always impressed with her intelligence, her quick grasp of a situation, her sense of humor and the time she devoted to giving back and helping others. She was a member of our theater group for many years. Most of us worked at Boeing and would leave work to meet for dinner and a show at the St Louis Repertory Theater. One thing we could count on was Sharon being 20 minutes late for dinner. There was always one more thing she needed to do. It was a great group and we truly missed her when she moved to DC. Rest in Peace, Sharon.

“ Sharon has been my good friend for almost 40 years. We shared many interesting adventures, particularly when she was working for Boeing in Washington, DC. She was always ready to try a new restaurant or find somewhere off the beaten track to visit.

She will be missed.
